'I Do! I Do!' Is a Double Scoop of Fun

By James Auer
of The Journal Staff

Charm is the helium that must hold aloft the fragile, two passenger balloon known as "I Do! I Do!"

And charm was present in abundance on the stage of Centre Stage Dinner Playhouse as Ken Berry and Jeanine Ann Cole launched a three week run of Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt's musical adaptation of Jan de Hartog's episodic chronicle of a half century of married life, "The Fourposter."

Berry, late of television's "F Troop" and "Mayberry RFD," proved himself an ingratiating song and dance man who needs neither a horse nor a Western street to win an audience's affection.

Miss Cole, another home tube stalwart, started out almost inaudibly but gradually gained vocal strength to match Berry's amiable Michael with an Agnes of inventive gesture and toothy, gaminlike vivacity. Together they bounced through Jones and Schmidt's serviceable but generally forgettable score with speed and gusto and seemed to be enjoying themselves in the process. The opening night audience, small but attentive, was with them all the way.

Berry, a well-trained performer who turned to series television when the cycle of musical films waned, put a Folies Bergere touch on his soft-shoe routine for "I Love My Wife." Miss Cole had her moment of hoydenish abandon with "Flaming Agnes."

If pathos was in rather short supply, a general music hall competency was there in full measure.

Jack Bunch's stage direction proved to be detailed and resourceful, if occasionally gussy and overdependent on flashy gimmicks.

The set, credited to Tony Pipito, is workable but drab, with an unfinished air to it. (What couple would keep that dreadful Renoir reproduction on their hallway wall for all 50 years of their life together?)

Musical director Jack Quigley's two pianos and percussion provided an uptempoed accompaniment that was more comfortable to Berry than to the occasionally erratic (but often delightful) Miss Cole. "I Do! I Do!" continues through April 6. It will be followed by Edgar Bergen's one man show opening April 11.

Sid Caesar Lawyers Queried

An assistant district attorney was reported to be in California Wednesday to talk to lawyers for comedian Sid Caesar in connection with a John Doe investigation here.

Sources said that Thomas Schneider, of the district attorney's office, wanted to determine if Caesar had any information that could be used in the John Doe investigation being conducted by County Judge Elliot N. Walstead.

Witnesses who are questioned during secret Doe investigations are called because they may have information that investigators need and not because they may be suspected of wrongdoing.

Caesar, a widely known television comedian, opened a three-week run in "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" at the Centre Stage Dinner Playhouse here Jan. 28.

Schneider directs the Organized Crime Unit of the district attorney's office. He flew to Los Angeles Wednesday.

Sources said several weeks ago that part of the Doe investigation involves a convicted felon who has ties to organized crime here.

Investigators have looked into such matters as prostitution and beatings.

They are carefully following up leads, including information given them by an informant, sources said.

Schneider is expected back in Milwaukee Friday.

 BIERNAT, aka - VICTIM; POSSIBLE CGR-MURDER; OO: MILWAUKEE" and Identification Division, Latent Fingerprint Section report dated 12/4/80, captioned "ANTHONY JOSEPH BIERNAT; MISSING PERSON-MURDER," Latent Case #41880, Bufile 79-28647.

Referenced Identification Division report advised that the fingerprint record of ANTHONY FRANCIS PIPITO, FBI #882 714 C, was temporarily out of file as of that date.
 This report advised that as soon as this record became available and if inked palm prints were contained therein, the latent palm print comparison as requested in referenced teletype would be conducted. To date, the Milwaukee Office has not received the results of this comparison and Milwaukee therefore assumes that there are no inked palm prints on file for ANTHONY FRANCIS PIPITO. If this is the case, the Latent Fingerprint Section is requested to advise Milwaukee so appropriate steps can be taken to obtain latent palm prints of subject.

EXAMINATION REQUESTED BY: Milwaukee
SPECIMENS:

The fingerprint record of Anthony Francis Pipito, FBI #882724C, is still temporarily out of file. It is suggested that the Milwaukee Division submit inked palm prints for comparisons with the previously reported latent palm prints of this individual, inasmuch as the fingerprint record may not contain inked palm prints.
